HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN A DAILY CUP OF BOVRIL

SILKEN SPINDLES
by Jane de Boreham

Brian hadn't said, "I love you, Gale," and want to marry you. Not to her. He'd said that to Vicki Thatcher who belonged to his own world, whom everyone expected him to marry.

"Well, she had learned," she felt humbled, humiliated. And there was more to it than that. She had really cared for Brian Thatcher—or for the man she had thought Brian Thatcher to be. She had dreamed of her hands, moving up and down mechanically, because a grey blur again. Oh, but she must get hold of herself! Fisher, the foreman, would be around any moment. She had to stop thinking about last night, had to keep her mind on her work!

Coming home that evening she heard a call from across the street and halted as the smallest of the O'Connors came flying toward her. He wore a coat several sizes too large, its sleeves dangling almost to the ground. His knitted cap was jammed over his forehead, but he threw his head back, staring up at her with blue, appraising eyes.

The smallest O'Connor grasped at Gale's coat with both hands, and said indignantly, "That's when it's coming back!"

"When is it coming back?"

"You know! The man who doth thence!"

"Oh!" The chilly hand clutched Gale's heart again. It was a moment before she found her voice. Then she said, "I don't know, Tommy. I—I don't know when he's coming back."

"But I want to see him! Look—he said it with his lips!"

The grumpy fingers dug into a half-turn pocket, producing a cork from a bottle.

"He said—'The youngster began attempting to demonstrate the puzzle. But Gale put a hand on his shoulder. 'I'm sorry, honey,' she said. 'I've got to go to the house now. I've got to get supper. Some other time you can show me how the trick goes.' But the youngster was adamant. 'No,' he said, 'it's that man I want to see. You tell him to come back here. I twisted over and over and I can't get it right. You tell him. Gale caught escape. 'Maybe Phil knows how to do it,' she said. 'He's coming home any minute now.' The child shook his head. 'It's that man I want to see,' he repeated.

From the rear of the O'Connors' house a shrill voice called, "Tommy! Oh, Tommy! Come here!"

"That's your mother," Gale said. "You mustn't keep her waiting."

The shrill cry was repeated. Tommy looked up at Gale sorrowfully. "All right," he said. "I'll go. I'm coming back! I want to see that man!"

Gale hurried up the walk and into the house.

It was Brian whom Tommy wanted to see—Brian with his tricks to amuse youngsters; his gay, flattering speeches that were tricks too. She opened the door and called a greeting to her father, then went into the kitchen and methodically began preparing the evening meal.

After they had finished eating, after the dishes had been washed and put away Josie Ordeley came. Josie brought the brown dress Gale had promised to help make over. It was wrapped in a newspaper with a strip of plaid silk and a picture from a fashion magazine. "Look! Josie said, holding the strip or plaid up to her face. 'Don't you think it's kind of pretty?'"

"Very pretty," Gale nodded. She had forgotten that she had promised to help Josie. She said, looking at the fashion picture, "Oh, yes, this is the one we decided on, isn't it?"

She got out newspapers and cut a collar pattern, fitting it about Josie's shoulders. She pinned the paper collar into place and Josie considered herself in the mirror and seemed pleased.

"She said, 'Gale, Gale, it must be small to be able to see like you can. I tried to make a dress once and you should have seen it! Was I a sight?'"

Gale was putting the silk, careful to keep the edges even. "It just takes practice," she said. "It isn't hard after you've had a little practice."

Maybe that was the way with other things, she thought. Maybe after telling yourself often enough that you didn't care about a person, that you despised them, it would really be true. She hoped it was like that, hoped it with all her heart!

She drew her needle in and out of the silk, talking minute, invisible stitches. She had the binding on one half of the collar when Josie came in sharply.

"Gale, look—you've got it on the wrong side!"

"Oh, I have, haven't I? I'll have to flip it!"

A CHILD'S INDIGESTION Relieved!

A mother of five children says, "When my eldest baby was four months old he was very ill with indigestion and constipation. My doctor told me to try Baby's Own Tablets. Now he is so healthy and happy and has been so well and happy ever since. The children think he is a candy and always ask for him for the latest baby. The package of my Baby's Own Tablets."

Josie eyed the other girl shrewdly. She thought for an instant that there were tears in Gale's eyes, but that was ridiculous. Putting the binding of a collar on the wrong way couldn't make anyone cry.

"An hour later, Josie rose to leave, the finished dress over her arm. She said, 'Gale, Gale, you were swell to do this for me. It's like a new dress.'"

"I'm glad I could do it," Gale told her. She really meant it. Sewing for Josie had filled the evening. She said, "Good night, Josie. See you to-morrow!"

And thus the day ended. To-morrow, Gale told herself as she undressed and got into her plain little white gown, would be easier. Gradually the days would grow easier and she would learn to forget that she had been a silly, ridiculous little fool. She would even some day, be able to think of Brian Thatcher without that sharp, stabbing pain. Maybe she would be able to take the incident as lightly as he had—

But she couldn't do that now. She found out the following evening, coming home from the mill, just how far she was thinking rationally, dispassionately about the whole affair. She had left Josie's black behind, turning a corner, Gale's heart and body, left behind. There, ahead of her, was Brian.

CHAPTER XXIV

Brian hurried forward. He said, "I've been waiting for you. I wanted to talk to you, Gale."

"What about?" She was glad to know that her voice was steady. He couldn't tell from hearing it that her pulse was racing, that there were fires in her temples. She asked again, "What did you want to talk to me about?"

Brian stood in front of her blocking the way. "About the other evening," he said. "I want to know what's wrong."

"There's nothing wrong."

"Oh, but there is! There must be. Why wouldn't you let me come back here? I'd take Vicki home the other night? You said I could come to see you. Don't you remember Sunday?"

"I was tired," Gale put in quickly. She didn't want him to go on, didn't want to be reminded of that Sunday afternoon. "I just didn't want to see anyone."

"You're sure it wasn't anything more than a trivial thing?"

"Yes, I'm sure."

"Then let me come to-night!"

Gale shook her head. "No," she said. "Not to-night."

"I'm—I'm not going to be home to-night," the girl went on hoarsely. "I'm sorry, but you mustn't come."

"I don't think you'd better come to-morrow, either."

"Gale!" Brian's hand was on her arm. There is something wrong! Something you haven't told me. What is it?"

"Nothing."

"But that's not true—I mean it can't be! Why don't you tell me about it? You're not a bit like yourself to-day."

"How do you know that? How do you know what I'm really like?"

"I do know it. I know you're not being yourself. I wish you'd tell me what it is that's made you change like this."

The brown eyes, anxious, imperative, sought hers. For an instant Gale was startled. She thought, "He really means it," and then, as quickly, scorned herself for being so easily misled.

"I haven't changed," she told him calmly. "If you think so it's because you didn't know me before. But that's not surprising. After all you can't judge a person when you've only met them once or twice."

"But I can judge—I mean, oh, Gale, I don't know what's come over you! You know how I feel about you. You promised Sunday."

She couldn't stand much more of this. She couldn't go on listening to Brian talking as though she were the one at fault, pretending things were just as they had been between them. She said surprising herself: "You're just talking about Sunday. Don't you think you'd better forget about that?"

Plan For 1935 Balloon Flight

NBC Co-operating in Stratosphere Attempt With New Balloon

Arrangements have been completed through which the National Broadcasting Company and the Radio Corporation of America will co-operate in the 1935 National Geographic Society-U.S. Army Air Corps stratosphere flight, scheduled to be made during the early part of June from the stratosphere near Rapid City, North Dakota.

NBC will install special radio equipment, designed by RCA-Victor and Radioactive Corporation, similar to that utilized for the 1934 flight, in the gondola of the huge stratosphere balloon, so that reports of the flight may be carried over NBC networks from many miles above the surface of the earth.

Captain Albert W. Stevens, who last year made the flight into the stratosphere with Major W. E. Kepner, will attempt to reach 70,000 feet and establish a new record during the completed ascent. His flying partner will be Captain Orville Anderson of Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., who also took part in last year's venture.

CHANGES IN BALLOON

While the broadcasting equipment, now being constructed, differs little from that utilized in the 1934 stratosphere flight, several important changes have been made in the new model stratosphere balloon and gondola.

The new balloon will be 35 per cent larger in cubic content than the balloon used last year. The fabric is one ounce heavier per square yard, insuring less danger from bursting as it enters the rarified atmosphere of the upper regions.

HELIUM INFLATED

Government-manufactured helium will replace hydrogen, which was used last year for inflation of the 500,000-cubic-foot balloon. The helium, it is believed, will prove more suitable at high altitudes.

The gondola will be eight inches larger in diameter, allowing additional space for installation of scientific apparatus. A ten-watt RCA-Victor transmitter will be fitted in the gondola.

The stratosphere balloon will be taken to the stratosphere sometime between May 1 and 15.

Secretary of War George H. Dern will join the expedition a short time before the flight, as official representative of the United States government.

Broadcasts will be heard from time to time over NBC networks from the stratosphere. Descriptions of the various tests, and broadcasts from the scaled stratosphere gondola, will be carried over NBC networks.

During the actual flight, Captain Stevens and Captain Anderson will make reports of their progress, which will be heard over combined NBC networks.

Dont Tifle COLD

Drive it out at once with Grove's Laxative BROMO QUININE

A cold can take hold quickly and develop seriously. It's neither a sign of wisdom nor of will power to drag yourself around while suffering from a cold, without taking measures to stop it at once.

If you do catch cold, treat it for what it really is—an internal infection. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is positive and direct in action, going right to the source of trouble. It does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels; second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces fever; third, it relieves the headache and "grippe" feeling; fourth, it tones up the system and fortifies against further attacks.

GIVES TALK ON HOUSING

Dr. H. M. Cassidy Tells Kwanians of Survey Conducted in Poorer Toronto

"We in Canada are now definitely emerging from our pioneering days, and as time goes on we are bound to have housing problems," stated Dr. H. M. Cassidy, superintendent of social welfare for British Columbia, in speaking to members of the Kwanian Club at luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Dr. Cassidy spoke of the work done by the committee formed in Toronto last year to look into housing conditions in the crowded sections of that city. He was a member of the committee, which was formed by Lieutenant-Governor Brown.

"The work done by that committee," said Dr. Cassidy, "has a national significance. The problems of housing planning have been given very little attention in Canada. Very little action has been taken about this problem, which is really of tremendous importance."

BELOW STANDARDS

The committee sent out visitors to the houses in poorer sections of Toronto, and they made a survey and found that many of the houses were large, old brick structures of seven to ten rooms, which in their day were quite fine, but had become unsanitary and unhealthy. Many were definitely below the health standard set by the committee. Dr. Cassidy said some had no cellars, others no methods of central heating, and in many the members of the family lived in one or two rooms during the cold weather. A great many of these old houses had no baths, and necessary conveniences were outside. Many of them had definite spots and were besieged by rats and other vermin.

The committee discovered, Dr. Cassidy said, that while the standard of living in Toronto looked high, the city had a great many homes of the slum type. It found that had health and had social conditions clustered around such houses, that the infant mortality was greater, and the juvenile delinquency much greater. The social problems were more acute in such areas, the speaker said, but noted that had been solved in some cases by the committee.

COMMUNITY SCALE

Dr. Cassidy said the idea of ownership of homes for workers on low wages was definitely out of the question. The Toronto committee pointed out that the main reasons for the conditions found in their city were low wages and irregular employment. It was pointed out that good housing could not be planned unless on some large community scale. The committee pointed out that such conditions as found in Toronto were largely due to inadequate use of land. No action had yet been taken on the committee's report, Dr. Cassidy declared, and the Lieutenant-Governor was becoming impatient.

Archibald introduced Dr. Cassidy, who was thanked for his talk by J. B. Clearhouse.

Brown Mackenzie, president, who occupied the chair, reminded Kwanians of the I.O.D.E. swimming gala and bathing beauty contest at the Crystal Garden Friday evening, and also announced a team of Kwanians would meet a team of Pacific Club members in a contract bridge tournament Friday evening.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

It's Often Nothing More Serious Than a Touch of "Acid Stomach"

HOW TO RELIEVE IT

Many people begin to look back on life when 40 years around. They worry. Notice they've lost "manly" vigor. Headaches often—Feel "dizzy." Tired and low a lot. Are prone to stomach upsets. They think they're "growing old."

Not at all, usually. Scientists say the cause, in a great many cases, is only this: a tendency to an acid condition of the stomach, perhaps the result of faulty diet. Nothing more.

The thing to do is simply to neutralize excess stomach acids. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, all you do is take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. Soon you feel like another person. Stomach calm. Fewer headaches. And the pep and energy you thought had come back again.

BROTHERHOOD IS ORGANIZED

St. Barnabas Churchmen Form Guild; J. W. Gibson Is Guest Speaker

A men's brotherhood of St. Barnabas Church was organized at a meeting in the school room, Monday evening, attended by members of St. Mary's Men's Guild, who gave advice on the formation of the guild.

J. F. Wilson was in the chair, and introduced the guest speaker, J. W. Gibson of the education department, who spoke on "The Democratic Concept of Education."

Mr. Gibson traced the evolution of education from the time of the Phoenicians and Greeks, when education was reserved for the chosen classes through the stern school of the Roman Empire, when the trend of general education was for things practical, political, that helped towards maintenance of organization, law, and order in the state, rather than what tended to bring out individual capacity and ameliorate the life of the common people.

By way of contrast he spoke of the enlarging view of the objects of education in the Christian religion and ethics, and how the conception of the brotherhood of man under one God, the Father of all, quietly brought about appreciation of the right of every man to an equal chance for self-improvement and intellectual growth.

He spoke briefly on the invasions of the Goths and Germanic hordes, and the fall of Rome's empire after two centuries of decline. He pictured the ten centuries of stagnation, throughout which the church was not only the great reformer and science, but the nurse and teacher that kept mankind from dropping back into the pit of barbarism. He then spoke of the birth and evolution of Anglo-Saxon civilization, the firm establishment of a democratic system of government and the foundation of our ancient universities which taught the new learning.

It was then that the absolute necessity of elementary education for every individual was made apparent, in order that each person should at least have the ability to read the Holy Scriptures in his mother tongue and formulate in his own conscience his responsibility to God and to his fellow men, Mr. Gibson said.

"The American and French Revolutions further opened the way for democratic system of schools," he continued. "Napoleon's reorganization of French scholasticism was not the least of the great reforms."

"Everyone must have his opportunity, and for that reason curricula must be very varied, the system elastic and a best way found for each individual. Training a child in the way he should go did not mean in the way his parents or teachers thought was best, but in that way which was his own best, according to his bent and capacity; and that often took a lot of study, psychology and experience to discover. There could be but one reply to the question: 'Who should be educated?' Society had got to carry its load, and supply an education so varied and elastic as to be of use for every vocation and culture that modern civilization demanded, of life not only in merely material things, but in the real and spiritual essentials, so that each might be to himself his own interpreter of truth," Mr. Gibson said.

Winnipeg, Feb. 27 (Canadian Press).—First legislation to pass all stages was sent through the Manitoba Legislature in a hurry yesterday evening. It was a brief bill arranging for members to receive their seasonal indemnities without further delay.

BRITISH LIKE MARKET ACT

E. D. Barrow Tells Dairymen Old Country Farmers Well Satisfied

Declaring "I'd go back to the Old Country and buy a farm," E. D. Barrow, M.P. for Chillingworth, told of the benefits of planned agriculture as it operated in England, while explaining the Marketing Act as it applied to milk producers at the annual meeting of the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, held in the Royal Oak Hall, yesterday evening.

Mr. Barrow had made a recent tour of the Old Country and was much impressed by the functioning of the marketing act there. It seemed strange that such a conservative place, such a land which believed in the rights of the individual, should adopt such a rigid form of collective marketing, he said.

"You hear a lot of comment on the English scheme," he said, "but don't be misled. It is not a thing they are going to bring out of their plan, and they are not going to throw it out. I saw hundreds of farmers while I was over there, and I never found one opposing it."

There had been up and down in agriculture just as in other businesses, but there had never been any certainty, any security in farming. When a depression gripped the country, the primary producer was always the first to suffer.

CORRECTION NEEDED

The only course left open to the farmer was to make the industry safe by giving it together, and bargaining collectively. Moreover, the speaker declared, it had become more and more evident that they had to be held together by some form of co-operation.

In 1927 the Market Control Act had been put through. This was the first attempt at orderly marketing of the primary producer. But the great cry against this piece of legislation was that it was un-British—that it was forcing the people against their will to do a thing that the Old Country had even gone further into the coercion of independent now, Mr. Barrow noted.

People talked about the law of supply and demand as though it was fixed like one of the laws of nature, but the speaker likened it to a man who went out in the rain without an umbrella. Naturally he got wet, and in the same way without some form of protection the farmer was getting soaked.

Mr. Barrow drew a comparison of prices paid to farmers in England and British Columbia. In Chillingworth farmers were receiving twenty-seven cents a pound for butterfat, while for the same stuff producers in the Old Country were now getting $2.30. Through the eternal competition between dairymen the price for milk in Vancouver had been brought down to as low as sixteen cents a gallon.

MILK MONOPOLY

When the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association first operated it was a monopoly and dictated the price of its products. The producer, while the consumer was getting his milk cheaper than in any other city in Canada, while the farmer received a better price for his product than in any other part of the dominion.

But the association fell down as the independents increased. For this reason, Mr. Barrow saw no other way out for the dairymen, than by taking advantage of the marketing legislation.

The present Marketing Act went much further than the first control bill in 1927. It had been brought into operation on the mainland and was working smoothly though a few minor alterations would possibly have to be made. The mainland scheme provided that those shipping to individual dealers had to form an association which would act as their agency. The agency deducted a certain amount as surplus, and saw to it that farmers shipping the same grade of milk would receive the same price.

Mr. Barrow understood that it was a different problem on the island. At least 90 per cent of Victoria's milk was supplied by producer-vendors or what were known as retailers. However, the island had the advantage of having no surplus and the member of the Provincial Legislature felt that some form of scheme could be easily worked out.

There was no doubt that certain amendments might be necessary for the Marketing Act in its present form, and Mr. Barrow pointed out that now was the time to act in this matter as both the legislative bodies in Ottawa and Victoria were in session.

After his address, the speaker answered many questions put to him by members of the audience. A. G. Lambrick thanked Mr. Barrow on behalf of the association.

Changes In Wage Act Are Explained

Minister of Labor Pilots Amendments Through Legislature

Several amendments to the Minimum Wage Act were explained by Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, at rapid progress was made on legislation in the House yesterday.

Under one section the Minimum Wage Board is given power to fix the amount an employer may charge for board and lodgings for employees. At present the board has only power to fix this charge by occupations.

R. W. Bruhn raised the point as to whether a person who let a contract would be responsible if the contractor went behind and was unable to pay the minimum wage. Mr. Pearson suggested that this was a point on which a court test might be made.

Answering J. Price, Mr. Pearson explained the inclusion of the word "orally" in one section was to aid inspectors whose duties it was to see that the act was enforced. On the grounds that they had filed written reports some employers had refused to give information to inspectors. The amendment made it obligatory upon them to give it.

The section setting six months as the maximum time under which an employer could make a claim under the act if he had been underpaid was also explained. It was considered a reasonable time for the protection of both employee and employer when doubt existed as to what was the minimum. It would also prevent an employee working for less than the minimum wage with the object of collecting when he quit the job.

ANNOUNCE DATE FOR CONCLAVE

B.C. Conference of United Church to Be Held in Vancouver on May 15

The opening date for the British Columbia Conference of the United Church of Canada was announced at yesterday's session of the Victoria Presbytery, by W. T. Smith, chairman of the conference committee, who said the gathering would take place in Vancouver on May 15.

Among the matters which will be taken up by the conference will be standardization of salaries, it was announced, which was becoming a serious problem throughout B.C. Presbyteries.

The report of home missions was given yesterday afternoon by Rev. W. P. Hunt, on whose recommendation the B.C. conference will consider the affiliation of the Cowichan and Shewanigan areas with Koksilah, with one ordained minister ministering to all three districts.

Religious education council work was reviewed by Rev. C. O. MacKenzie who was pleased to announce an increase in young people's societies on the island. The Presbytery approved his suggestion for the formation of a young people's union for the district north of Nanaimo.

Girls' work during the year was discussed by Miss Ann Fountain, secretary of Vancouver.

At a public meeting in the evening Rev. Bruce Wallace of Vancouver spoke on "The Objectives of Evangelism," and Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, P.E.O.S., who is in charge of the West Coast Marine Mission, summarized his work, showing motion pictures of coast activities.

George Austin was voted vice-president, while J. Filmer was returned as secretary-treasurer, and J. Oliver and E. Raper were appointed as directors.

The business committee of A. G. Lambrick, J. Filmer, G. Austin, E. Raper, H. Vickery, J. Oliver, A. Clithworthy and E. Sims was re-elected en bloc.

The meeting decided to change the name of the association to the South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association. This, it was pointed out, would include all dairymen in a twenty-five mile radius of Victoria, which was the area designated in the marketing scheme which the association proposed to draw up.

Market Notes

Eggs and butter were the feature of the local produce market this morning as far as prices were concerned.

The egg market, which has been firm for some time, took a boost for the better yesterday, as all grades rose two cents.

There is a very firm undertone to the butter market and there is a better current than there may be a shortage of this commodity in three weeks time.

However, one wholesaler discounted this morning and was of the opinion that unless it becomes very cold on the prairies there will be no change in prices.

The apparent shortage of butter was due to the fact that it was in the hands of a large number of speculators, he declared. There has been no change in butter prices during the last three days.

Rhubarb is now selling at reduced prices.

A carload of wrapped Newton apples arrived in the city this morning and will be selling at bargain prices. They will be on the market for two weeks and according to information received on wholesale row, will retail at the same price as bulk apples.

Local vegetable dealers are hoping to have the first asparagus in their stores at the end of this week. If the shipment arrives on schedule, asparagus will make its bow this year at a very early date.

Wholesalers are not expecting any more strawberry shipments this week.

Into the minimum wage regulations. He said that they had met the Industrial Relations Board, and he felt that the board understood that the dairy industry could not be included under the Minimum Wage Act.

Dairymen on the island was a family affair, the president pointed out, and it was therefore a difficult proposition to control hours. If the larger dairymen were subject to the act and not the smaller men, it would be unfair. Mr. Lambrick felt that once some form of dairy scheme had been put through and prices stabilized, then they could talk about controlling wages.

The meeting also considered a marketing scheme drawn up by a committee appointed by the association. The secretary-treasurer's report showed a balance on hand.

LOG EXPORTS ARE WATCHED

Japan and Australia Seeking More Raw Logs From B.C., House Told

Assurance that the government is watching the log export situation closely and is seeking by every possible effort to frustrate the growing demand of Japan and Australia for more and more raw logs was given by Premier Pattullo when the Forest Act amendments were in committee in the House yesterday.

James Beaulieu suggested that if the supply of raw logs was cut off Japan would take over the market. He urged the government to seek a gentlemen's agreement with Washington and Oregon along these lines.

The Premier pointed out that such an agreement could only affect logs from licensed sawmills, whereas the big export was from crown-granted timber over which the province had no control. A. W. Bruhn suggested an export tax, but this again was stated by the Premier to be beyond the power of the province.

Bruhn and Mr. Beaulieu intimated their intention of moving amendments when the bill comes up for further consideration.

PRISONERS MAKE PLANE JOURNEY

Canadian Press Prince Albert, Sask., Feb. 27.—Brought to Prince Albert by airplane under police escort, two trappers of foreign extraction to-day had begun a thirty-day term for infringement on Saskatchewan's fur regulations.

The convicted trapper brothers, Joe and John Carluk, were charged with operating illegally in the Bernard Lake country, 100 miles northwest of Lac la Ronge.

Evidence before Justice of the Peace G. W. Wilson at Lac la Ronge proved they had trapped muskrats and fox out of season, contrary to the fur act.

To bring the two Carluk brothers to Lac la Ronge to face the charge, Constable S. J. Leach of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police covered 200 miles by dog team.

Bill To Protect House Member

E. D. Barrow's Trip to England Subject of Special Legislation

To correct a situation which arose when E. D. Barrow, Liberal, Chilliwack, former minister of agriculture, was chosen by the Associated Grocers of British Columbia to make a survey of marketing conditions in Great Britain last year, a special bill was introduced by Premier Pattullo in the Legislature.

The provincial government, according to the preamble of the bill, made a grant of $4,000 to the Associated Grocers last July to carry out the survey.

The Associated Grocers then chose Mr. Barrow to make the trip. Mr. Barrow being a member of the Legislature, there is some doubt as to whether his qualification as a member of the House is affected by reason of the fact that he might be considered as having been paid from the grant made by the crown to the Associated Grocers.

To clear away any doubt of this nature, and put Mr. Barrow in good standing regarding the bill, specifically states that nothing in the Constitution Act shall apply to disqualify him or make him ineligible because he acted as the Associated Grocers' representative.

DATE IS SET FOR HEARING

New Charge is Laid Against Pettitrew Brothers; Cases to Proceed Friday

Garry and Hugh Pettitrew, Victoria brothers awaiting preliminary hearings before Magistrate Jay on two charges, were faced with a third, tonight, yesterday which alleges they took part in the robbery of the J. E. Robinson's store at 1000 Reginald Road about the same time last month that a series of break-ins took place in the city.

On the new count they also elected preliminary hearing and it is expected to proceed on Friday morning when Inspector F. G. E. Vance, Vancouver, will be in the city to testify in the case against the brothers and Clifford Dawley, charging them with breaking and entering the Playhouse Candy Shop on the morning of January 18.

Dawley has already been committed for trial on a charge of breaking and entering the Dominion Theatre.

The Pettitrew brothers are also booked on a charge of unlawfully retaining a flashlight, stolen from Mr. Robinson's store. The new charge will supersede this one, the flashlight being used as evidence in the more serious charge.

INQUIRY NOW BEING SOUGHT

Douglas Credit Plan Adherents Start Petition for Royal Commission

In an effort to secure a Royal Commission inquiry into the existing financial system and other systems of monetary reform, petitions are being circulated throughout Victoria by supporters of the Douglas Credit Plan.

Members of that organization hope to secure several thousand signatures in Victoria as part of a Dominion-wide appeal to the Governor-General-in-Council for the institution of an impartial board of inquiry.

Yesterday evening petition forms were distributed among members of the Victoria Douglas Credit Study Group at their meeting in Room 402, Union Building.

During the meeting proposals of the Douglas Credit system were discussed by those supporting it, as well as to the opposition. Rev. F. W. McMillan delivered an address on "The New World," and Captain G. H. Smith, speaker on "The Old World." The group will meet again on Thursday, March 4.

Notes of the Legislature

TO-MORROW'S SCHEDULE

Debate on the Budget

YESTERDAY

The House spent the afternoon with legislation.

Second reading was given the following bills:

An act to amend the Fire Marshal Act.

An act respecting the Corporation of the City of Port Coquitlam.

The following bills were put through committee (progress reported):

Bills of Sale Act amendments.

Police and Prisons Regulation Act amendments.

Daily Varden Mines Railway Right of Way Act.

Interpretation Act amendment.

City of Prince George By-law Validation Act.

City of Port Alberni Act.

City of Vancouver Tax Sale Cancellation Validation Act.

Summary Convictions Act amendments.

Female Minimum Wage Act amendments.

Male Minimum Wage Act amendments (progress reported).

The following bills were introduced and given first reading:

Act to indemnify Edward D. Barrow.

Weekly Half-holiday Act amendment.

Game Act Consolidation Act.

Sumas Drainage, Diking, and Development District Amendment Act.

Diking Assessments Adjustment Act amendments.

Dawdney Diking District Relief Act, 1929, amendments.

Getting ready for the budget today, the House was fairly subdued yesterday, but seemed tense in preparation for the second big debate.

Premier Pattullo fairly beamed as he informed R. H. Pooley, K.C., Esq., that it was the first time since he could remember that the budget would be brought down fifteen days after the House opened.

Mr. Pooley was drawing attention to the fact that the report of the comptroller-general on the finances for nine months ending last December should be presented within fifteen days of the opening.

Mr. Pooley, Liberal, Omineca, whose reputation as a stickler for procedure is not unknown, raised another point yesterday. He claimed that a government bill validating an assessment granted to a creamery plant by the city of Prince George should have come down as a private bill. He did not press the issue but said the precedent might lead to complications in the future.

Premier Pattullo waived the point aside by declaring the government, he felt, had the right to introduce any legislation in the public interest provided it did not go outside its jurisdiction.

Mr. T. Kenney, from Skeena, proved a very suitable man for the job of reading bills in the committee stage during a busy day on legislation. He rivalled the Richfield reporter for rapid fire speaking and clear enunciation at the same time.

Essentials to be learned before smooth sailing can be made on enforcement of the Minimum Wage regulations are that employees have protection and employers have penalties if they do not live up to the acts, Mr. Pearson said, when amendments were under discussion.

led into the second game of a two-game play-off series to-morrow night with the Vernon Club. In the opener yesterday evening, the junior Smoke-eaters won 4 to 1.

TRAIL JUNIORS WIN

Vernon, Feb. 27.—Trail's junior hockey team will carry a three-goal

"Why did you let that French sailor kiss you?"

"HERE'S HOW I MAKE THE DELICIOUS FUDGE,* SO POPULAR AT Miss Betty Sandford Smith's SMART AFTERNOON TEAS"

as told by "Tyne," cook at the home of Miss Betty Sandford Smith, popular member of Toronto's smart younger set and daughter of Colonel Sandford Smith, D.S.O., and Mrs. Sandford Smith.

YOU will note (in the recipe appearing at the left) that the fudge which wins the praise of Miss Sandford Smith's friends is made with Nestlé's Evaporated Milk. There is a definite reason why the use of Nestlé's improves fudge, as it does so many other foods and confections.

Because Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is itself so smooth, because the high proportion of butter-fat which it contains is broken up into such small particles and because it is always uniform in richness, you can make with Nestlé's a fudge which is more velvety, better flavoured, more delicious and creamy.

But this is only one of Nestlé's hundreds of uses in your kitchen. You will find that by using it you can make better cream sauces, soups, and pie-fillings. With it you can make richer, better-textured and lighter cakes. You can use it, too, in a wide variety of luscious, tempting desserts.

Nestlé's, you know, is just the purest of cow's milk with more than half the water removed and with absolutely nothing added! Because it is evaporated, Nestlé's is twice as rich as ordinary fluid milk and because it always has the same generous butter-fat content, it gives absolutely uniform results in cooking.

Decide now that you will try Nestlé's in your kitchen right away. All grocers have it. It is surprisingly low in price.

QUICKEST METHOD TO RELIEVE A COLD

1. Take 2 Aspirin Tablets.

2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 2 Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here... prescribed by doctors everywhere today as the quick, safe way.

Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "taken hold"—almost instantly.

Just take Aspirin and drink plenty of water... every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward... If throat is sore, use the Aspirin gargle.

But be sure you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin Tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

Blue Ribbons Will Meet Flying Shadooffs Here This Evening

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE CHANCES are that Walter Martin will not play any more serious tennis. He is more than a little sorry about it, but so far he has been totally unable to figure how he can be in a law court and on a tennis court at the same time. And he has to eat. The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association will send a team to Great Britain this summer, a move hailed in tennis circles as the most advanced in the history of the game in this country. It will develop players of international calibre and it may, finally, give Canada a strong Davis Cup team.

All this is too late for Martin, a giant of a fellow who has gone as far in tennis as he feels he can without letting his law business suffer. If the C.L.T.A. had sent a team abroad four or five years ago, when the Rogers player was the most promising of the young crop, then it might have been different. He was a student then, and he might have been sent to the British and United States tournaments, left in high-class competition to develop himself. Little was done for Martin and Gilbert Nunn to develop them in an international way. They got along as best they could.

Martin had physical powers equal to any player in the world, but in the last five years he has averaged under ten tournaments a year for the simple reason that he can't win many good events in Canada and who was there to send him across the border where his game could not have helped but improve? Nunn was equipped with a few years ago shot Canadian tennis ever produced and a good fighting heart to back it up. But Oit played his ten or less tournaments a year, reached a certain stage of development and that was that. There were no British or American campaigns of any great duration for him.

This year's plans have been held too late for Martin and Nunn—five years too late. The chances are that neither will make a serious effort to win places on the British team. Canada is to make a place in world tennis, younger players than these will have to be coached and kept plugging where the plugging is tough.

"I'm twenty-five years old," Martin said the other day, "and I work hard in a law office. If I play tennis this summer then my development as a lawyer is retarded and that can't be allowed to happen." So, presumably, the No. 1 player of 1933 is content to let tennis drop.

The C.L.T.A. has given no indication of where they will go. It will send to Wimbledon and the English and Scottish tournaments. Should it be two, then Bobby Murray and Laird Watt of Montreal might be logical choices. If you have a few years ago, otherwise Marcel Rainville, Martin and Nunn would command attention. The players who might have been developed a few years ago are not particularly interested. They were not brought along and in this new era they feel the young hopefuls should get the attention.

In the not-so-humble opinion of Arthur Mailey, Australia's great googly bowler, England possesses the world's best cricket captain in Douglas Jardine, while Australia has a majority of the best batsmen in the world. In fact, he has selected an all-star eleven. Placing the thirty-four-year-old Jardine at the top, he lists three Englishmen, an Australian and one West Indian. The native Leslie Constantine, as the outstanding player of 1934. It is a line-up unlikely to be challenged by British critics who play Australia in the test matches this season.

Mailey calls these English players for his team: Walter Hammond of Gloucestershire, Maurice Leyland of Yorkshire and Harry Larwood of Nottinghamshire. And these Australians: Don Bradman, William H. Penderford, Stanley McCabe, William J. O'Reilly, L. C. Priestwood-Smith and William J. O'Reilly.

Larwood's selection is the most surprising because the greatest fast bowler in the game played only part of last season because of an ankle injury and did not take part in the test matches. Mailey conceded, however, that the bodyline bowler whose style caused such controversy could not very well be ignored on his record.

Hammond, Leyland, Bradman, Penderford, McCabe, Constantine and Jardine provide this all-star team with amazing batting strength. Even Leyland, perhaps the least famous of this group of batsmen, has more than fifty centuries to his credit. Oldfield, who has no peer as a wicket-keeper, also is a sound bat. Constantine, although he learned to play in the wicketless era, has performed in England for the greater part of the last four years and has established himself one of the really great batsmen in present-day cricket.

Everett Hoopers Coming By Plane For Crucial Game

Two Flying Boats Bringing Cagers to City for Northwest Tourney Battle

PRELIMINARY AT 8 O'CLOCK

Victoria Blue Ribbons vs. the Flying Shadooffs of Everett, Wash. That is the set-up for this evening's northwest tournament elimination basketball game at the Victoria High School gym. The Everett players were due to arrive here this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in two seaplanes from Seattle. The Shadooffs thus become the first flying basketball team in these parts.

In the preliminary game starting at 8 o'clock Walter Yonman's Victoria Uniteds will engage the Nanaimo Yacht Club girls in the first of a two-game total point series for the Island senior B women's championship. The feature battle will get under way about 8 o'clock.

Stan Riedel, an old-time Washington basketball player and manager of the Shadooffs, led his squad into Gorge places at Seattle this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and they were due here last night. The Everett boys had just intended to come in a big plane but when they learned yesterday that Victoria had no authorized landing field they changed their arrangements to make the trip in flying boats.

ABB STRENGTHENED The Shadooffs are bringing over eight players and according to advance reports have a much-strengthened line-up over the team the Ribbons defeated in the tournament play-down last season.

The winner of the two-night game will earn the right to play in the northwest tournament at Seattle, March 7, 8 and 9. Last year the Ribbons did exceptionally well in the series.

Seattle, Feb. 27.—Three of the eight crack independent basketball leagues which will battle in the sixth annual northwest tournament, a Seattle news item was learned. The other five will be known this week—two of them to-night.

Here are the districts and the teams which have either won divisional titles or are playing in the final:

1. Seattle No. 1. Position won by Italian Athletic Club's Seattle city champions.

2. Seattle No. 2. Final between Alpine Dairy and Olympic Oil, 8:30 Thursday night at O'Dea High.

Scottish Soccer Eleven to Canada

Glasgow, Feb. 27.—An announcement was made to-day that the Scottish Football Association will send a representative team to Canada and the United States this spring. Eight matches will be played in the Dominion and four in the United States during May and June.

Princess Ora Pays Handsome

Captures First Race at Santa Anita Track to Return $36.60 for $2

Los Angeles, Feb. 27.—Shining Jewel, a filly that cost Mrs. Isabel Dodge Blumher's Breckinridge Stable $10,000 two years ago, yesterday began to show for past perfection by winning the $1,000 Green Park Handicap at Santa Anita.

Withockey Willie Saunders guiding her, Shining Jewel wasted no time in getting to the front in the four-furlong feature, and came home an easy winner to pay $11.80 for a winning $2 mutual ticket. The time was 1:10. Hope Eternal was second, defeating Carmichael by a nose.

Sonny Workman, who was on Equipoise in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap last Saturday, rode horses in the first four races yesterday and won two of them. Prince of Wales, a favorite, and The Ballerina, which paid $4.20 in winning his third consecutive race.

Princess Ora, a long shot, won the baby event, which was run at four furlongs, and around the turn for the first time. Previously, the babies have been going out of the three-furlong chute, and a new track record of 49 2-5 was established. Princess Ora was a 17 to 1 shot.

Rangers-Boston Are In Deadlock

Tied for American Division Lead in N.H.L. With Chicago Single Point Behind; Rangers Beaten 3 to 1 by Maroons; Boston Blank
St. Louis 5 to 0

By A. E. STURD

Canadian Press Staff Writer
The way things are going now it may be March 10, first night of the National Hockey League season, before New York Rangers, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks decide which is to represent the American division in the league championship series.

With each team only eight games from the schedule end, the race is just about as tight today as it ever has been. Rangers and Bruins are in the lead with forty-seven points each and Hawks are trailing by only half a game.

Earlier Patrick's New York team lost to Boston and made room for Bruins after losing 3 to 1 to Maroons in Montreal while Bruins were shutting out St. Louis 5 to 0.

Patrick's team came looking more hopeful than ever after they lost a 3 to 2 decision to Americans in New York.

Rangers met a Maroon team tied from their last long trip of the season, but made the mistake of allowing them two goals in the first period.

Tommy Gorman's outfit promptly threw up their defence and did not allow the Rangers to score until the second period when they only had a shot in the second period.

Big Vernon Ayres, St. Louis defender, was the villain of the show in the first period and a major in the third fighting with Patrick's goalie.

They thought they had to kick out only twenty-one shots to register his eight shutout of the season. It brought him even with Alex Connell, Maroons, in the shutout record.

CONNELL'S RECORD
Americans had to come from behind to beat the Wings in the Madison Square Garden game, featured by weak defense play from both teams.

And then they came to the game to beat the Hawks in the second period.
Harry Oliver's shot from an almost impossible angle, bounding into the net off the back of the net.

Johnny Schirmer, the rookie from Calgary, won the game for the New Yorkers with his two goals. The first came in the opening period, the second in the second period. He had broken the Hawks' defense and the second goal in the middle frame after Syd Howe had given Detroit the lead again late in the first period.

Connell, the Winnipeg goalie, who is tied with Frank Boucher of Rangers for high mark in the season with twenty-eight, made the play for both the goals Schirmer scored.

Attendance was disappointing at both New York and Boston, 3,500 seeing the Americans win and 2,800 watching Bruins take a victory. Four thousand turned out at Montreal to see Maroons and Rangers.

CANZONERI AND OLIN DEFEATED

Detroit, Feb. 27.—Chuck Wood, Detroit lightweight, won a close decision yesterday evening in a ten-round bout with Tony Canzoneri, former title-holder in three divisions. There were no knockdowns.

Wood weighed 137 pounds and Canzoneri 132.
Frank Weimer, comparative unknown from Tucson, Ariz., scored an upset victory by defeating Bob Olin, world light-heavyweight champion, in a ten-round non-title bout. Weimer weighed 132 pounds and Olin 174.

KIMBERLEY PLAY CUBS

Dynamiters Figured to Have Walkover in Hockey Series
With Vancouver Team

Vancouver, Feb. 27.—Kimber-ley's aristocratic dynamiters and George Irvine's Cub, orphans of amateur hockey in Vancouver this season, were set to-day for the opening game in the British Columbia senior amateur hockey playoffs to-night and the right to advance into the Allan Cup playdowns.

The series is a three-out-of-five affair, and the winners traveling to Alberta on the next leg in their drive to Dominion hockey laurels.

Visibly disgruntled that they had to make the coast trip to meet an opposition which even the most rabid Vancouver fan admits will give them little more than a workout, the dynamiters demanded a handful of rinkside afternoon. After stepping through their paces with a display of hockey that brought to mind the smooth-functioning Maroon Havils who appeared here three years ago, the dynamiters watched their series opponents lumber through an intricate maze of plays that started from northward and ended the same place.

Before the rearrangement the league-leading Seattle Sea Hawks had collected forty-six points in the thirty-two games they had played, compared with thirty-two points in twenty-eight games for the Vancouver Lions and Portland Buckaroos, tied for second place.

Under the revised schedule the number of played games for the Hawks was brought to twenty-eight by striking off the four games they played on their recent prairie trip.
They lost six points through the revision, having won three of the four games. Scores in the four games in which one first place will be decided on a goal average basis.

The three coast clubs have four games each to play before the playoffs, two at home and two away, and either Portland or Vancouver have a mathematical chance of tying the Sea Hawks for the leadership, in which case first place will be decided on a goal average basis.

THESE BOYS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

When you look over this lineup of crew material for the University of California, there's little wonder that the Bears are favored to retain their rowing U.S. championship won in 1934. Enough willing sweep oarsmen reported for first practice to compose nine complete crews, including the eight men who made up the title-winning squad of last season. Coach Ky Bright hopes to turn out a squad that will represent the U.S. in the 1936 Olympic games.

ICE SCHEDULE IS REDRAFTED

Three Teams in Northwest
Hockey League Each Play
Four More Games

Vancouver, Feb. 27.—Officials of the Vancouver, Seattle and Portland clubs of the Northwestern Professional Hockey League met here yesterday and completed a rearrangement of the remainder of the regular league schedule following the disbanding of the two prairie members of the circuit, Calgary and Edmonton.

The series is a three-out-of-five

Visibly disgruntled that they had

70-Year-Old Mother Tries Bobsled Run

Mrs. James Stevens,
Mother of Famous Bobsledding Brothers,
Enjoys Fast, Thrilling
Ride Down Mt. Van Hoevenburg Run at Lake Placid

Editor's note.—The Mt. Van Hoevenburg bobsled run, a mile and a half of glistering ice with high bank, zig-zag and right-angle turns, provides one of the world's most thrilling rides.
Sunday Mrs. James Stevens, seventy-year-old mother of the famous bobsle-dding brothers, agreed to ride with her sons just "to stop all this talk I have been hearing about the house for five years." In the following article she describes her ride for the Associated Press.

By MRS. JAMES STEVENS Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 27.—Just as I was about to go down the bobsled run, I was told that it was as fast as anyone ever came down the Mt.
Van Hoevenburg run. Hubert, my eldest son who was piloting the sled, could call "let 'er go" to Curtis at the brake.

They forgot the brake on the finish section and then I had a real ride. I wanted to go as fast as I could, as long as I was making the ride, and we certainly sped along. I don't see how the boys ever collect their wits to know how or where to stop.

I wasn't frightened because I knew if there was any danger the boys wouldn't ask me to go with them. The only time I felt a little worried was when I lost hold of the strap at Whiteface, the hairpin turn, but I soon found it again and everything was all right. I didn't feel at all like falling off. I was glad as they fell me some people do.

To-morrow evening in the quarters of the Elks Club, Douglas Street, a wrestling and boxing programme will be put on by members of the Mount Stephen Junior Athletic Club for the "Brother Elks" and their friends.

The boys have lined up several first class bouts and the show will get started at 8 o'clock.

Following the fights the youngsters will be the guests of the Elks at supper.
